David is the President of the leading project management firms, T1 Project Management. As a seasoned project manager, he is knowledgeable in design management capability and has detailed experience in construction management, on-site delivery, and client representation. He is also hands-on in participating with various life cycles: feasibility, design and construction, infrastructure, commercial and corporate & hospitality property development sectors.

He also leads in design, construction, programming, QS, quality, and cost management disciplines to successfully drive multiple civil/structural fit-out & MEPF projects to completion. David is also one to implement project planning strategies to align relevant consultancies, contractors and other stakeholders for timely and cost-efficient construction.
